Milestone 3: Revising and Refining Content

DELIVERABLES (Apr. 2)

- Refined Content Package (3 pieces)
- Team Process Report #3

PURPOSE

By completing Milestone 3, your team will:

- Draft and polish three content pieces (short, medium, long form) that match your campaign goal and target audience.
- Improve writing through revision, focusing on clarity, tone, purpose, and consistency across all pieces.
- Use AI tools responsibly to support drafting and refinement while critically evaluating suggestions and making human-led improvements.
- Demonstrate genuine collaboration by ensuring each piece shows evidence of drafting, revising, and peer review by multiple team members.

Deliverable 1: Refined Content Package This consists of three polished content pieces—short, medium, long—ready to include in your final report (Milestone 4).

What you will do Draft and polish the three pieces of content (short, medium, long form), using AI tools for support while critically evaluating and improving the work for clarity, tone, and purpose.

STEPS

A. Draft the Content

Student role:

Using your outlines from Milestone 2, create a first draft for each content type. Focus on translating your key ideas into full sentences, paragraphs, or posts while staying true to the campaign goal. Adhere to the specific word counts, platform constraints, and formats you established in your Milestone 2 outlines. Do not use AI in this step, as you want to assess and align your messaging with your context and purpose.

B. Edit and Refine the Content

Student role:

Read each draft critically to analyze the clarity, tone, and alignment:

- Does this clearly communicate the key message?
- Is the tone consistent across all pieces, friendly, professional, persuasive, or informative depending on your campaign?
- Does each piece meet its intended purpose for the target audience?

Make the adjustments.

C. Consult AI for feedback.

Student role:

Once you have a decent draft of each content type and you've gone as far as you can with it, name your document(s) "draft of refined content." Attach the doc to an AI chat (a + sign in most AIs). Ideally, try a Pro version (if someone signed up for the free Gemini Pro).). Multiple members should contribute to prompting and evaluating AI output. The table must contain entries from more than one group member's name to earn full equity points for collaboration. Optimally, use two or more different AI tools.

Then prompt the AI so that it gives decent output:

> You are creating a market campaign called _____. The target audience is _____. The compelling message and call to action is _____. Your brand voice tone is _____. You have created a short-form, medium-form, and long-form content pieces for this campaign. You will find a draft of these in the attached document. Review the attached document and make suggestions for improvement, specifically 1) whether the three pieces clearly communicate the campaign's key message; 2) whether the desired tone for the campaign is consistent across all pieces; and 3) whether each piece meets its intended purpose for the target audience.

Go back and forth two or three times with the AI, interrogating it about the feedback it gave. Ask for additional feedback and recommendations, such as the timing of deploying pieces or anything else you'd like to consider more fully.

Share Chat links with team members.

D. Reject/Select Feedback

Student Role:

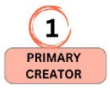

Compare the output and select helpful feedback and reject unhelpful feedback. Give rationales. These choices should be guided by your rhetorical context: your purpose, audience, brand voice, accurate campaign message, and genre (Instagram post, email, etc., essay, etc.). Use the table from your Process report, step 3, to record your AI rejection/adoption.

E. Revise Content Pieces for Submission

Revise. Based on what you've selected in Step D and anything else that occurs to you as the authors, make the appropriate revisions to your refined content pieces. Integrate changes in your own voice to fit your campaign. Your refined content pieces should be in polished form and should work together as a unified campaign.

Proofread & Submit. At the endpoint in your writing process (polishing), it is acceptable to use AI for limited tasks like proofreading for grammar and mechanics. If you are confident in your skills as a proofreader of grammar and mechanics, this may not be necessary or helpful.

Attach your revised version to a NEW chat and Prompt AI to “only proofread for grammar and mechanics, and do not make any changes to words, style, content, core ideas, and structure.” You don’t want AI flattening your voice.

Deliverable 2: Team Process Report #3

What you will do. Write and submit Team Process Report #3 that includes evidence of collaboration, AI use, and revision work. Remember, the Process Report, unlike your content pieces, does not need to be polished.

Include all of the following five sections, and title each section:

1. Team Roles: Identify a drafter and a reviser for each content piece. To show shared authorship, ensure that different people drafted and revised (each piece must be revised by someone other than the drafter at least once across the package).

2. Workflow & Version Control: Review the Version History on your OneDrive document to ensure equity in commenting, revising, and tracking edits among group members. Insert a shareable link to the OneDrive where drafts and tracked edits live, and summarize how editing was managed.

3. Prompt Log: Detail your AI use for revising and refining content pieces, and explain what humans changed as a result (focusing on tone, clarity, audience, and accuracy). Multiple members should contribute to prompting and evaluating AI output. The table must contain entries from more than one group member's name to earn full equity points for collaboration. Optimally, use at least two different AI tools like we did in Milestone 2. Copy and paste the standard table below into your report:

Group Member	AI Tool	Prompt Used & Chat link to output (If no Chat link, then screenshot)	Output of summary in your own words	Output used? Y/N?	If used to improve something, what specifically did it improve in the draft?	Why did we make that change?

4. Decision Log: Provide a bulleted list of 3–5 key revision decisions the team made (e.g., brand voice, consistency, stronger Call to Action, audience focus, etc.) and the rationale behind those choices.

5. Peer Review: Provide evidence that the team has reviewed and commented on each other's work, leading to actual edits. Include at least 2 concrete peer review comments per member and 1-2 resulting changes, i.e., "what changed because of feedback".

Evidence requirement: Each piece will show evidence of having been revised by someone other than the drafter (visible in both tracked changes and clear peer review notes).

CRITERIA FOR SUCCESS (RUBRIC) You'll be evaluated using the same rubric categories of previous milestones. (each /4). For the fully fleshed out and detailed rubric, see the Canvas assignment window.

- Relevance: Content pieces clearly support the campaign goal and speak to the target audience.
- Plausibility: Messaging and content choices make sense for the business/brand and context.
- Detail: Pieces are fully developed and polished; revisions meaningfully improve clarity and effectiveness.
- Presentation: Writing is clear and professional; tone and voice are consistent across all pieces.
- Collaboration Evidence: [/5] Demonstrated through the Team Process Report items: roles, version control, prompt log, revision decisions, peer review notes, and tracked revision evidence.

SUBMISSION CHECKLIST 1 Team Member Submits on behalf of the team:

✅ Refined Content Package (3 polished pieces: short/medium/long). Can be submitted in one continuous document, or in 3 pieces. Can also be submitted as clearly labelled links ("short piece," "medium piece", or "long piece" so that I am very clear what I am looking at).

✅ Team Process Report #3, with all five sections numbered and included.

✅ Ensure shareable OneDrive link is included + Version History reviewed.

✅ Check for evidence that each piece was revised by someone other than the drafter (tracked changes + peer review notes).
